One Thousand Donated To Camp Mokule'ia

"On October 5, Rev. David Turner, Executive Director at Camp Mokule'ia, preached at St. Mary's. It was St. Francis Sunday, and Rev. Turner, preached about the audacity of St. Francis life and message.

St. Francis rejected the status quo of privilege that was his inheritance. Instead, he proclaimed a faith so deep that it could heal the theological rifts that were expressed in the Crusades.

He understood God's love to encompass not just all humans but the entirety of Creation.

His is such a powerful model, and though we come up short, Camp Mokule'ia, Rev. Turner says, strives to be audacious as well. The camp strives to be a place that takes seriously the work of caring for God's Creation, and strives to be a place that holds together Hawaiian Christian values such as malama (to care for ourselves, others and all of God's Creation), pono (to live righteously and with respect for one another), and mana (finding the gold that comes from God in all creation and all God's children). Camp Mokule'ia strives to be a sacred place for rest, recreation and renewal for all who pass through its gates.

After his sermon, Rev. Turner was presented with a $1,000 check from St. Mary's to be used towards the adoption of one of the Lodge Rooms at Camp Mokule'ia. St. Mary's is the first congregation to sponsor a room, and was lifted up as an example at the Diocesan Convention October 23rd and 24th. Hopefully, St. Mary's will inspire other churches to similarly invest in the camp."

King Street Cycle Track

Be CAREFUL entering and exiting St. Mary's via King Street

The city's King Street Cycle Track pilot program is underway for completion hopefully by Thanksgiving, definitely by Christmas. The dedicated bike lane is from Alapai to Isenberg Street. The asphalt berm blocks to divide the cycle track from vehicle traffic fronting St. Mary's was installed on Wednesday, October 29th. Until the city paints the on street parking stalls, no parking allowed on King Street.

Cycle Track from first page

Question: What is a cycle track?

Answer: Cycle tracks, also known as protected bike lanes or on-street bike paths, are bike lanes that are physically separated from traffic. The cycle track is positioned between the sidewalk and the on-street parking. They can be on the left or right and can be one-way or two-way.

Question: Why do we need cycle tracks?

Answer: The City is required to comply with the Complete Street ordinance and balance the needs of all road users; pedestrians, bicyclists and motorists. The City encourages more bicycling, which is a healthy and clean mode of transportation. The cycle track design makes bicycling safer and will attract more bicyclists that are not comfortable riding in traffic. Also, by providing a safer place for bicyclists, it will encourage them to ride in the roadway instead of the sidewalk, which will make the sidewalks safer for pedestrians.

The League of American Bicyclists recently published the bicycle mode share numbers for the 70 largest cities in America and Honolulu is ranked 9 nationwide. Currently, 2.4% of people in Honolulu commute to work by bicycle. The number has been increasing over time and we are confident that by providing safe bikeways even more people will choose to travel by bicycle. Source City of Honolulu

A New Coat Of Paint

Leland Lee and Murray Cohen are painting the front of the St. Mary's church building facing King Street. Leland painted the upper parts while Murray took care of the lower portions. TEAM WORK! For the glory of God!

An inspiration for all of us to work together to be apart of God's Glory.

Leland Lee and Murray Cohen are not new nor slack in their service for the Lord. Leland has recently repaired the cold water problems in the Guest House -formerly known as The Annex - and Murray ever week prepares and delivers meals to the homeless within Mo'ili'ili.

These are two gentlemen whose service is greatly appreciated.

Halloween Walk

Once again, the youth of Angels at Play Preschool & Kindergarten did their yearly Halloween Walk.

After dressing up with handmade costumes, they walked to eleven local businesses that are close to the preschool. At each business stop they sang a Halloween song.

After visiting the eleventh local business, they marched to the St. Mary's church of Mo'ili'ili in front of the sanctuary where they were met by Father Gregory.

With joy, they sang Father Gregory a Halloween song.

After hearing them, Father Gregory being so touched, did the only thing one could do. He gave them all a treat!
